VALLEY FORGE, PA _ First National Bank of Chester County is sponsoring Freedom's Foundation's Return to Honor Program scheduled for August 24th through the 26th.

"First National is proud to support this program, that assists combat veterans in gaining a renewed sense of purpose and mission," said John A. Featherman III, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of First National Bank. "This workshop is a worthwhile community project and the bank welcomes the opportunity to be a part of it".

The Return to Honor program in Phoenixville will take place on Friday, August 24th through Sunday, August 26th.

Martin Richardson, director of the program, said that "Return to Honor allows combat veterans to experience a unique set of circumstances that often only other combat veterans understand and recognize as the natural outcome of being at war. The weekend is a highlight of our programs at the Freedom's Foundation," he said. The event is open to all veterans, free of charge; they need only register by accessing www.returntohonorworkshop.com or calling 610.933.8825 x 241."

"Participants spend a three day retreat and decompression weekend designed by combat veterans for combat veterans", Richardson said.
